Roosevelt Defends Congress and 'Brain Trust'

'BRAINS' TO REMAIN IN FEDERAL JOBS, YALE GROUP TOLD

President, Alumnus of Harvard, Receives Honorary Degree From Yale and Answers Criticism of Lawmakers, Advisers.

ABILITY IS FIRST, EXECUTIVE HOLDS

F. D. R. Says He Has Chosen and Will Continue To Choose Men Because of Merit, Not Party

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt struck back today both at critics of congress and of the "brain trust" and told his newly-adopted alumni of Yale University that the use of "brain trust" in government will be continued.

"After all," said the president, "we are—whether we like it or not—living in a democracy. I like it. We are to continue to live in a democracy."

The graduates of Yale who had heard some light references to congress in the course of the commencement exercises at which Mr. Roosevelt was given an honorary degree of doctor of law applauded the presidential declaration.

Cross Section. Congress, he said, represents a "better cross section of opinion" than the viewpoint of any single group, educational or otherwise.

"While there has been a certain amount of comment about the use of brains in the national government, it seems to be a pretty good practice—a practice which will continue—this practice of calling on trained people for tasks that require trained people."

"Ability rather than politics enters into most choices made in our government. I can't tell today the party affiliation of most of the responsible people in our government and I think it is a mighty good thing that I can't."

The extemporaneous presidential talk at the alumni luncheon concluded with a unique display of friendship between the two old rival institutions of Harvard, the president's school, and Yale, James H. Conant, president of Harvard, likewise was given Yale's honorary degree of doctor of laws.

James H. Conant, president of Yale, in awarding the degree to Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Brave leader of your people in time of peril; with indomitable courage and good cheer, with patience and high intelligence and complete devotion to the service of the nation, winning to your personal acquaintance millions of men of every creed and party, Yale University, desiring to do homage to the great office you adorn and to mark her admiration and respect for your daring leadership, honors herself in conferring upon you her highest distinction, the degree of doctor of laws."

The 1,000 men and women in caps and gowns who had just won their degrees from old Eli stood and cheered.

Marrying Lothario

IVAN PODERVAJ.

TUFVERSON PROBE YIELDS FEW CUES

Spots on Trunk in Podervaj's Possession Found Not To Be Blood.

By the Associated Press. The best efforts of police of two continents failed Wednesday to throw new light on the mysterious disappearance of Agnes Tufverson, New York and Detroit lawyer, after her marriage to Captain Ivan Podervaj, Vienna police, who are holding the captain and his latest "wife," Susanne Ferrand, determined definitely that stains on Miss Tufverson's trunk, found in Podervaj's apartment, were not made by blood.

In New York, a thorough search of Miss Tufverson's apartment by the police department's scientifically equipped technical research bureau disclosed nothing which appeared to have a bearing on the case.

Realizing that Podervaj will not be held in custody indefinitely, the New York authorities are bending every effort to establish a basis for action. Police of New York and surrounding states were asked to report at once the discovery at any time since Miss Tufverson's marriage last December of a body which might possibly have been hers and which has not been identified.

All possibility that a woman slain and dismembered in England might have been the missing American lawyer was eliminated by the findings of a Scotland Yard autopsy search.

SPOTS FOUND ON TRUNK ARE NOT BLOODSTAINS. VIENNA, June 20.—(AP)—Police dug into the recent past of Captain Ivan Podervaj today after chemists had determined that spots on a trunk in his possession were not made by blood and abandoned the theory that the stains might throw light on the disappearance of Agnes Tufverson, Podervaj's American wife.

Further questioning of Susanne Ferrand, who lived here as Podervaj's wife, failed to convince police that she is not withholding information and she was kept in custody on the technical charge of having profited from the disappearance.

PERKINS LAUNCHES EFFORTS TO BRING STEEL AGREEMENT

Richberg Optimistic After First Day of Conference Under New Labor Measure.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Secretary Perkins said today she had transmitted to the steel manufacturers "in the most direct fashion I know" the counter proposal for settling the dispute between the mill operators and workers.

There had been "no comment from the employers" since the secretary, designated by President Roosevelt as an intermediary in the dispute, transmitted to them the text of the workers' proposal by mail and telephone yesterday.

Miss Perkins disclosed in a press conference she had acceded to a request by an extreme left group of the steel workers, the steel and metal workers union, headed by Patrick J. Cudahy, that she hear their views. The date for that meeting has not been fixed.

While no arrangements have been made for an immediate conference between Miss Perkins and the manufacturers, the secretary made it clear that this did not close the door to such discussions.

Miss Perkins' primary role is to bring the two groups together. Pursuing this policy, she sent the union proposal to the Iron and Steel Institute, the manufacturers' organization, with a brief and formal letter of transmittal.

Linked with the steel situation is the law passed by congress last week and signed by President Roosevelt yesterday giving to the chief executive power to set up a board or boards to investigate issues arising out of the labor provision of the national recovery act and involving collective bargaining.

"Exploratory Conference" Held. Miss Perkins, Senator Wagner, Democrat of New York, chairman of the national labor board, and Donald R. Richberg, counsel for NRA, today discussed in what Miss Perkins termed an "exploratory conference" the range of activities of the new boards.

The conference was held with a view to having ready for Mr. Roosevelt when he returns to Washington from his northern trip some definite suggestions for operation of the new labor conciliation agency.

Miss Perkins, told that there was an impression in some quarters that the new law providing for the setting up of boards in particular industries might be used to drive operators into agreeing to a employer-employee plan, said:

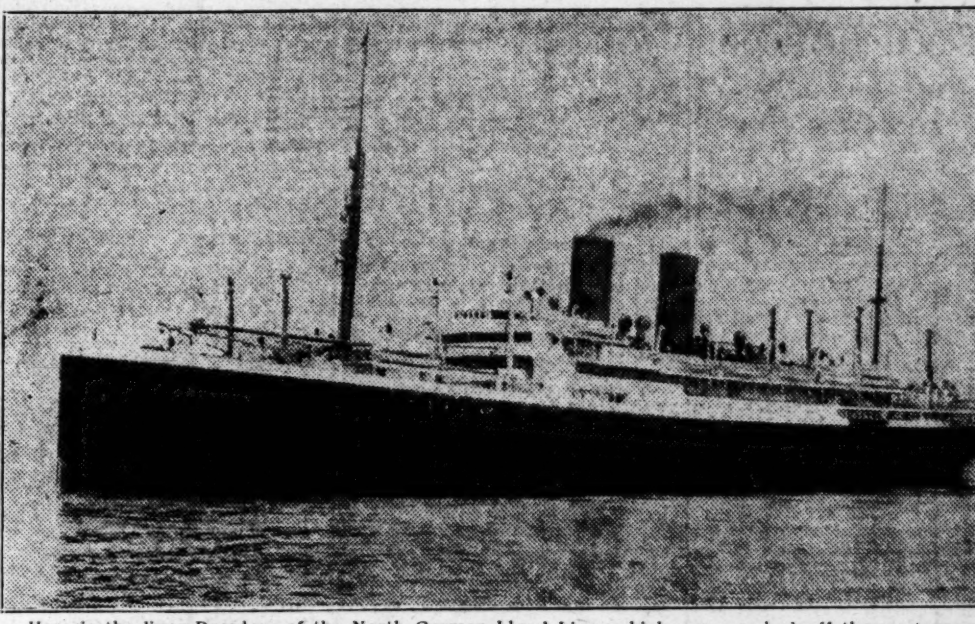

"Congress gave the president the power and he will exercise it in the public interest."

She indicated there was the possibility that the new law might be used to if all attempts at agreement failed.

She said the act was so drawn as to place no limitation as to whether the boards be regional or national or both or whether established for particular situations or made to run the one-year course of the act itself.

Richberg told reporters today "there is no reason why a satisfactory adjustment can't be made" of the steel dispute.

SOUTH IN FRONT, JOHNSON ASSERTS

NRA Head Tells Credit Association Blue Eagle To 'Stay Put.'

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 20.—(AP)—Promising the Blue Eagle will "stay put" as an emblem of clean business, Hugh S. Johnson tonight said NRA was mobilizing to halt chiselers and that better times justified more liberal credit policies.

He emphasized to members of the National Retail Credit Association assembled in convention that "you have a major task to perform toward recovery."

Johnson said "the south is leading the country" in a recovery which is returning Americans to independent homes of their own and giving them a share of added pay roll billions.

"The assurance of code wage limits has made that possible," the NRA administrator said. "Given these factors, two things are true: First, a huge slice of the new earnings is not directly available for the consumption of goods. The bread-winners are going cautiously placing security and self-respect first and are holding back from free-handed spending for clothes, food and the necessities of life."

"Second, this process is hastening immeasurably the return of good credit risk, making millions of men and women eligible and desirable customers even when they do not have the dollars to plunk down over the counter every time they need to buy."

"I am not for one moment urging that you set out to entice and lure for what they need over and over again. This is the time for sane credit judgment that takes cognizance of the upward movement of loans, just enough, to the side of liberality."

Richberg told reporters today "there is no reason why a satisfactory adjustment can't be made" of the steel dispute.

Green Spokesman. The officer of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, who yesterday conferred with Mr. Roosevelt, were back at Pittsburgh today, leaving the duties of spokesman for their group to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Mike F. Tighe, international president of the amalgamated, tinged an expression of satisfaction over developments with the cautious assertion that there would be peace "at least temporarily" but that he could not say how long it would last.

The publication will say that the highest vote in favor of a strike was only 71.2 per cent of the total vote. That was the Farrell works of the Carnegie Steel Company, a United States Steel subsidiary, where 251 ballots favored a walkout and 3,176 opposed it.

Dieting Greater Risk For Women Than Men

BERKELEY, Cal., June 20.—(AP)—Women who fast or starve themselves for the sake of a slender figure do so at a greater risk to their health than do men undergoing similar deprivations, the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told today by Professor H. J. Deuel, of the University of Southern California.

"Women develop a much more pronounced acidosis during a week's fasting than do men," Professor Deuel said. "This condition is associated with the inability of females to oxidize fat during starvation as completely as the male subjects are able to do."

"For this reason an accumulation of incompletely oxidized end products, which are organic acids, occurs in the female and typical symptoms of acidosis ensue."

CLEANERS, DYERS SCRAP NRA CODE. Group's Heads Accuse Johnson of Bad Faith, Misrepresentation.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Charging Hugh S. Johnson with bad faith, the code authority of the cleaning and dyeing trade tonight announced it had scrapped the code for the industry.

All but the wages and hour provisions of the past already had been discarded by NRA, but the executive committee of the code authority said in a communication to President Roosevelt they would not bind themselves to abide by these.

The letter to the president was signed by J. Harkness, chairman of the code authority, and nine other members of the group.

Sol Rosenblatt, NRA deputy administrator in charge of the cleaning and dyeing code, said the wages and hour provisions were still in force despite the decision.

To have paid the bonds on this basis would have required about $1,000 in currency for each $1,000 bond, and would have increased the original debt from $34,548,000 to about $55,000,000.

Council for the Missouri Pacific trustees, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the commissioner of internal revenue opposed the petition for the ground the legislation was imperative in view of urgent economic conditions.

GOLD ABROGATION UPHELD IN COURT

Federal Judge at St. Louis Sustains Act Vitiating "Gold Clause."

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—(AP)—A federal district judge today placed the stamp of constitutionality upon congressional action abrogating the "gold clause" of obligations payable in the United States, estimated at $90,000,000,000 to $125,000,000,000.

In upholding the legality of the congressional action, Judge Charles B. Farris, in a 31-page decision, ruled that bonds of the Missouri Pacific railroad, despite the promise they contain to pay in "gold coin of the United States" of the weight and fineness of the time of their issue, should be paid only at their face value in the money of the United States now current.

First Ruling. The ruling was first by a federal court since "public resolution No. 10" was enacted in June, 1933.

It is expected the case, which has been the subject of wide interest in financial circles, will be appealed to the United States supreme court for final decision.

After discussing all the points raised in the case, which was argued at length by an impressive array of counsel, Judge Farris concluded:

"And so it follows, that public resolution No. 10 is in my opinion valid; that the gold clause is therefore unenforceable in the ultimate letter thereof as urged by intervenors, and is enforceable in equity only, to the extent that intervenors as trustees, are entitled to recover or to be paid on each $1,000 par value bond in controversy the sum of $1,000 in such money of the United States as is now current, or as shall be current when the final decree for payment is entered."

On Bankers Suit. The decision was on a petition of the Bankers Trust Company of New York, trustee for $34,548,000 originally issued by the Iron Mountain railroad, now a part of the Missouri Pacific system, asking the court to declare the bonds payable in gold of the quality called for on the face of the bonds. Since payment in gold is now impossible, the trustee sought payment in present currency equivalent to the amount of gold called for in the contract.

To have paid the bonds on this basis would have required about $1,000 in currency for each $1,000 bond, and would have increased the original debt from $34,548,000 to about $55,000,000.

Council for the Missouri Pacific trustees, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the commissioner of internal revenue opposed the petition for the ground the legislation was imperative in view of urgent economic conditions.

4 Young Nude Bathers Fired on by Caretaker. Thinking to save their clothes, and thereby their modesty, four young nude bathers rushed toward the caretaker of a private swimming pool at East Point yesterday morning, only to be fired at by the caretaker, who was wounded by birdshot early Wednesday night.

J. T. Looney, the caretaker, said he thought they were attacking him and fired on them with his shotgun.

The four were taken to Grady hospital in a Howard L. Carmichael ambulance, treated for wounds in the legs and dismissed. They were told to get on their feet and go home, and that they ran toward him, heedless of his warning to halt or "he'd fire."

East Point police said they booked a case of disorderly conduct against Looney pending the outcome of the boy's condition.

The youths gave their names as Clyde Barner, 18; Hugh Brown, 20; Johnnie Taylor, 17, and George Pierce, 19, all of East Point.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE PLACES SIGNATURE ON 3 MAJOR BILLS

Loans to Industry, Relief and Communications Control Acts Are Made Into Law.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—The bills vital affecting the high and lowly of the nation were included in a large batch of measures signed by President Roosevelt before leaving on his trip to New England.

The White House today announced that in addition to other measures, the chief executive had affixed his name to the loans to industry bill, securing a definite bill making huge relief appropriations and the measure placing a commission in control of the nation's communications system.

The industrial loans measure, subject of a protracted dispute in congress which once threatened the measure with death in conference, makes $50,000,000 available for five-year advances to large and small business enterprises.

$138,000,000 for Loans. It authorizes but does not direct the treasury to turn $138,000,000 over to the federal reserve banks to which they will add $267,000,000 for loans through other financial institutions, with the latter assuming 20 per cent of the risk.

In addition, the new law authorizes the reconstruction corporation to lead up to $300,000,000 direct to industry, with one bond of the government to $500,000, and to lend a maximum of $75,000,000 to school districts and $25,000,000 to drainage districts.

The deficiency bill is next to the second largest appropriation bill to be enacted in peace time. It provides $2,629,500,000 for relief purposes, public building construction, and to meet unexpected needs of the government in the closing days of the present fiscal year.

$1,879,500,000 Outlay. It calls for a direct treasury outlay of $1,879,500,000, supplemented by $750,000,000 from the Reconstruction Corporation, with $500,000,000 of the latter item devoted to relief and the remainder to public works of the government.

The administration originally asked authority to spend all unused treasury, reconstruction and public works funds for relief but congress balked.

The communications bill establishes a commission of seven to regulate interstate commerce and supercede the radio commission that has been functioning since 1927.

The measure outlaws interlocking directorates among such companies, as a blow at the creation of huge telephone monopolies, and gives the commission authority to grant or veto acquisitions of the lines of other companies or extension of those already owned.

The commission is authorized to make inquiries into many phases of the business involved and report back to congress with a view to additional legislation.

DRESDEN BEACHED ON LONELY ISLAND PRIOR TO SINKING

Gear of First Boat Lowered From Big German Liner Breaks, Hurling 20 Women Into Sea and Drowning Three.

HAUGESUND, Norway, June 20.—(AP)—Three women lost their lives today when the 14,000-ton German liner Dresden, carrying 1,000 Nazi holiday passengers, struck a rock in a fjord near here.

The bodies were brought to Stavanger aboard the rescue vessel King Harald, which took off 700 of the Dresden's passengers after racing to the scene in response to SOS calls.

Fears were expressed that there may be others missing, but nothing definite could be learned until lists of passengers and crew have been checked.

With a gaping hole in her port bow, the Dresden was beached after the crash in a small bay on Karmoy island, where some of the passengers and crew were taken off.

Some of those rescued said that two lifeboats capsized, one by breakage of her lowering gear and the other by coming too near the vessel's screw.

The S. S. Kronprinzessin Maertha also reached Stavanger with the first of those rescued from the Dresden, after the scene of the ship's wreck.

Panic gripped the passengers when the 14,000-ton vessel struck violently, ripping a huge hole in her hull and listed alarmingly to port.

Over to starboard and back to port she listed and 100 terror-stricken guests of the cruise jumped overboard without waiting for lifeboats to be launched.

All of these are believed to have reached shore safely. The captain, after flashing an SOS call, was able to beach the vessel on Karmoy island.

The North German Lloyd steamer, however, was so badly damaged that her crew was forced to abandon her later.

One woman was reported lost when a lifeboat, the first to cast off, was dumped into the sea as the lowering gear broke, carrying 20 women with her. Nineteen of them were rescued, it was reported, while one drowned.

One report, not yet confirmed, said the crew was rescued, but her arms and legs were broken.

As panic reigned aboard the big vessel, which only a few minutes before the crash had been a scene of vacation merriment, the captain calmly ordered out the lifeboats and superintended backing the Dresden off under her own power and proceeding cautiously to Karmoy.

Captain Stays With Ship. True to the traditions of the sea, the captain was one of two men last seen on the wreck.

Athenian Elected Governor As Lions Convention Closes

W. T. Ray, of Athens, Wednesday was elected district governor of Georgia Lions at the closing session of the convention in Decatur, after a warm battle between supporters of the Athens candidate and members of the Waycross and Atlanta clubs, who backed Low Harrell, of Atlanta.

Columbus was selected as the convention city for 1935 after spirited rivalry between delegates from that city and from Albany.

The new district governor is one of the Master Key members of Lions Club, having been active in the chartering of 12 new clubs in the state. There are only three Master Key members in Georgia.

At a luncheon in honor of the governor-elect, John A. Lloyd, international director of Lions, was presented with a check for $1,000, the outpour in Decatur, after a warm battle between supporters of the Athens candidate and members of the Waycross and Atlanta clubs, who backed Low Harrell, of Atlanta.

George S. Johnson, of LaGrange, the outgoing district governor, thanked his brother Lions for their co-operation during his year in office. His address was followed by that of Mr. Ray, who declared that he would strive to live up to "the high purposes of Lionism."

Much admiration was expressed by the delegates for the musical program presented by the Decatur Girls' High school orchestra during the luncheon. The orchestra was organized by the Decatur Lions' Club last year as the club's first project.

Text of Roosevelt's Speech Lauding 'Trust' and Congress

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 20.—(AP)—The text of the extemporaneous speech made today by President Roosevelt at the Yale alumni luncheon follows:

President Roosevelt and Fellow Trust: I don't believe that any higher academic honor can possibly come to any Harvard graduate than to be made an alumnus of Yale.

I am especially happy because this ceremony more closely binds which I have had for many years with a great number of Yale graduates who have worked with me on many kinds of tasks and in many places. Today in Washington I count very heavily on the splendid assistance that is given to me by Yale graduates in every department of the government. We have not yet come to the point of placing universities under the code system. There have been suggestions to the effect, as, for instance, not long ago when some of my friends of Harvard suggested that something should be done to correct the unfair trade practice which certain sections of this country are seeking to protect. I have been thinking of this since I saw the Harvard Lampoon office, and again a suggestion was made when a certain pet bulldog disappeared from New Haven.

Why Not Use Brains.

It was suggested this morning by the public orator (Professor Phelps) that congress will do almost anything I wanted. But the dear, good congress almost prevented me from being with you today. Last night, when I got aboard the train, I felt just like a schoolboy out of school, yet here I am, back in academic surroundings. However, I did want to tell you of my appreciation of being able to work through these years with Yale men, and I want to tell you also very simply of my thought that while there has been a certain amount of comment about the use of brains in the national government, it seems to be a pretty good practice—a practice which will continue—this practice of calling on trained people for tasks that require trained people.

Today, more than ever before in our public life it is true that we are calling on the teaching profession, on the graduates of scientific schools and other schools, and I think it is also true that in the conduct of government there has been no period in our history where what we call in the wrong sense politics and in the wrong sense politicians enter less than they do today in the conduct of government. I find, for the sake of example, that in my own mind and, I am quite sure, in the minds of the leaders of the federal government, qualification from the standpoint of ability rather than from politics enters into most of the choices that are made.

Doesn't Know Parties.

There are, of course, repercussions to that. Sometimes appointments are made and people are called in to serve their country and weeks go by before anybody discovers which party they happen to belong to. I couldn't tell you today the party affiliations of probably the majority of people holding responsible positions in Washington, and it is a mighty good thing that I cannot.

I go back a great many years in calling on Yale men for help.

One of the most pleasant surprises this morning was the statement by the dean of the school of forestry that this year's graduates were not present because they were already at work, and I thought of Gifford Pinchot (governor of Pennsylvania) and smiled and he knew what I meant. Twenty years ago or more, when I was a youngster in the state legislature, for some perfectly unknown reason I was made the chairman of a committee.

I think it was nobody else wanted the chairmanship—on forests, fish and game. It was a subject about which I knew very little. I discovered immediately that one of the problems before us was the denudation of the Adirondacks. Timber had been cut there without rhyme or reason or thought and many of the upper slopes being washed away only the bare rock appeared. I began to take an interest, and I sent a letter to the chief forester of the United States, asking him to come to Albany to advise me and the legislature and Gifford Pinchot, came up there and delivered a professional lecture. He was one of the first of the brain trusters.

And the thing that sold it to the layman's mind—to the mind of the average member of the assembly or the senate was not so much what he said as what he showed—photographs of north China, a region once covered with magnificent forests, a region which today is a desert. We passed our legislation and that was the first step towards practical government supervised forestry so far as I know in the eastern part of the country. I started me on a conservative road. From that time on, in company with a great many other graduates of Yale, we have gone ahead by the slow process of education until today the whole country, I believe, is thoroughly familiar with the purpose of the great national plan for the better use of land and water throughout our continental limits.

I cite this merely as an example of what may grow from the enthusiasm of men. There are hundreds of other things we are doing today that are new, and the government of this country is seeking to progress in all of the affairs of governing the country in the same way that the great universities of this country have been seeking to progress in the same way. Harvard and Yale have pointed the way in education for a great many generations and today Harvard and Yale stand out in the world of education as being willing to experiment—thank God.

Spirit United.

Just so long as that spirit remains in our education and, as President Cogan suggested, we have still quite a way to go to catch up with the 17th century, and just so long as that spirit is abroad in education, we need not worry about the future of the nation.

I want to say one word about the national point of view. Ever since I graduated from college I have been more and more interested in the proposal, today in part a fact, that these great eastern universities should make themselves national in so far as it lies within their power, and the body of graduates of Yale and the body of graduates of Harvard every year are increasing the useful influence of the two universities in all of the sections of this country. The danger for all of us graduates, especially, I believe of the larger eastern universities, lies in a narrowness of point of view—the living within the confines of one's own community, of living within one's own profession and of typifying too greatly the man who is described by the west as the man who never went west of the Hudson river. To get to know our country is going to help us, not only individually but our own government.

Representative of Nation.

We hear much in the more erudite press of the east about members of the legislative branch of the national government who are usually set down as "local politicians." And yet in that body we must remember the simple fact that they do represent every state and every congressional district throughout the length and breadth of the land and that the cross-section of American public opinion is better displayed in the halls of congress than it is in any aggregation of educated citizens having purely the local point of view. After all, we are—whether we like it or not—living in a democracy. I like it. We are going to continue to live in a democracy.

The fact that the influence of Harvard and Yale is becoming more cosmopolitan and more nation-wide as each year goes by is one of the finest things to which we can point and the effort that we lend to that spite the announcement by the authority. He added the code authority was in reality abolished by the NRA action which eliminated all but wages and hour clauses from the cleaning code and a number of service trade pacts. He said that Blue Eagles of the establishments which violated the labor clauses would be taken away and that further action might be taken.

The communication to the president left no doubt as to the displeasure of the cleaning and dyeing code authority over NRA's abandonment of price provisions and other fair trade practice clauses.

They said Johnson, NRA administrator, had informed them as late as May 12 there would be no material changes in their code and "particularly there would be no elimination of the trade practice provisions."

"Under the circumstances," the code authority said, "we can only feel that the administrator knowingly and intentionally received and misled the representatives of the trade during the period in question."

ed. Throughout the day, Mr. Roosevelt was met at every turn by applauding and cheering throngs. After a couple of personal calls in the city during the afternoon he motored to the government yacht Sequoia to head for New London, Conn., where he will witness the Harvard-Yale boat races on Friday.

Pinchot Praised.

The president referred to Gifford Pinchot, governor of Pennsylvania, who was present, as one of the first "brain trusters." He recalled that Pinchot, as chief forester of the government, had come to Albany and lectured to the house committee on forests, of which Mr. Roosevelt was chairman, at Mr. Roosevelt's request.

Narrowness Decried. Mr. Roosevelt warned college graduates, especially those of the eastern universities, against "a narrowness of point of view."

"We hear much in the more erudite press of the east about members of the legislative branch of the national government who are usually set down as 'local politicians.'"

end one of the finest things we can do for our alma mater.

So my friends, because Harvard and Yale have gone through these centuries hand in hand, I feel very happy to belong to both of them.

the legislative branch of our national government who are usually set down as 'local politicians.' And yet in that body we must remember the simple fact that they do represent every state and every congressional district throughout the length and breadth of the land and that the cross section of American public opinion is better displayed in the halls of congress than it is in any aggregation of educated citizens having purely the local point of view.

Democracy To Remain.

"After all, we are—whether we like it or not—living in a democracy. I like it. We are going to continue to live in a democracy."

Boarding the government yacht Sequoia at 5 p. m., the president sailed down stream into New Haven harbor from where he sets out tomorrow for New London.

The day afforded opportunity for a family reunion. During the afternoon the president and Mrs. Roosevelt visited at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Cushing, the parents of Mrs. James Roosevelt Jr. James, eldest son of the president, and Mrs. Roosevelt, joined the family meeting and all boarded the Sequoia tonight. They were accompanied also by Mary Cushing, another daughter of Dr. Cushing.

In opening his talk to the Yale alumni, Mr. Roosevelt smiled as he addressed the vast assembly: "Fellow Elms."

Professor William Lyon Phelps, public orator, read the citations for honorary degrees and interjected frequent witty comments.

"Former presidents have had congress on their hands," he said, "Franklin Roosevelt has congress in his hands. Many persons had begun to wonder if it was possible for a national legislature in troublous times to function wisely or indeed to function at all; the principle of democracy was seriously questioned. But the new president had been in office only two weeks when the phrase most often heard in both houses was the 'yes he can!'" ed by another crime, based on her possession of property which had belonged to Miss Tufverson.

Evil intentions police said indicated Pederjay was about ready to abandon Miss Ferrand and seek another wife when he was arrested was reported by the investigators.

At the time of his arrest, police said, Pederjay had no more than $35, and all of Miss Ferrand's money was gone except about $20.

NEW YORK POLICE SEEK CLUES IN FIVE STATES

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—The New York police are pushing their search tonight for fresh evidence that might connect Ivan Pederjay with the disappearance of his bride, Agnes C. Tufverson, New York-Detroit lawyer.

New York police, faced with an ultimatum from Vienna authorities for tangible reasons for the continued detention of Pederjay, appealed to fellow officers of five states for assistance in finding the missing woman's body. They previously had abandoned hope of finding her alive.

A "special attention—urgent" dispatch on the five-state teletype system urged police of upstate New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Massachusetts to report at once the discovery of any body resembling Miss Tufverson, whose description was broadcast.

Police officials admitted they lacked evidence sufficiently strong to justify taking any action against Pederjay.

Authorities apparently were still holding in reserve the possibility of obtaining a grand larceny indictment against Pederjay, based on the complaint of a shopping agent who purchased the Tufverson trousseau. Some days before her mysterious disappearance last December turned the widespread search for the missing woman lawyer to that city.

Both the New York police and the New York district attorney's office, working separately, uncovered new evidence which suggested to them that Miss Tufverson may have gone to the Quaker City to consult some man, possibly on business.

"We have learned that Captain Ivan Pederjay, the last time he was seen here, Miss Tufverson's maid said she had gone to Philadelphia," Acting Captain John H. Ayres, head of the missing persons bureau, said at his press conference.

SEARCH FOR WOMAN TURNS TO PHILADELPHIA

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—Investigation of the disappearance of Miss Agnes Tufverson turned to Philadelphia today.

James T. Neary, assistant district attorney, said Miss Tufverson was on December 15 or 16 gave her Chase National bank stock to a man in Philadelphia. The man, Neary said, was not Captain Pederjay.

Neary said efforts were being made to learn if Miss Tufverson was registered in any Philadelphia hotel at the time of the transfer, three or four days before her disappearance.

He declined to disclose the man's identity.

1,000 ARE RESCUED FROM GERMAN SHIP

to leave the stricken steamer as she perched precariously on her island berth. The other one was the wireless operator who had stayed at his post dispatching calls for assistance.

A thick mist hung over the fjord as the Dresden plowed toward her destination. Reports indicated the rock upon which she struck was submerged, but the ship had not been verified by ship's officers.

The crew was ordered to leave the ship when she was obviously in imminent danger of sinking. A change of the wind from the south, observers said, would swing her nose off the beach and sink her.

Her bottom is believed to be completely torn open.

Once the panic had subsided, the work of debarking proceeded rapidly. Many of the passengers were taken off by the ship's lifeboats and others by the small motor launch, Kong Harald, and several packet boats which arrived upon the scene shortly after the accident, summoned by radio.

The captain seemed in putting the liner into a bay on Karmoy island, running her close inshore. The passengers who remained aboard and 360 members of the crew were landed on the island without much difficulty.

The passengers were taken by motor as soon as possible to different parts of the island, which is well populated. They will remain there for the present.

Salvage boats were standing by the Dresden and a French warship in Stavanger harbor was prepared to assist if necessary.

Later in the evening the captain and some members of the crew returned to the vessel, but not for long as she had a list of 40 degrees.

They reported the bow lying very low and a big hole in the port side. Water was in three holds and in the stokehold.

It is considered that if the Dresden is not washed off the ground where her bow rests and sunk, there is a possibility she may turn completely over during the night.

It was reported although not confirmed, that two Norwegian pilots were aboard the vessel at the time of the accident, one of them on the navigating bridge.

The Dresden was off Haugesund this morning, before the crash, and had planned to make the trip to Harstad but found this impossible owing to fog. Later she turned southward to Ryfylke fjord and suffered the mishap on her return journey.

The Dresden, a vessel of 14,600 gross tonnage, was built at Bremerhaven, Germany, in 1914 by the Vulkan works.

First it was called the Ormuz. Then it became known as the Zeppelin, and finally as the Dresden.

The Dresden, on a run from the continent, arrived at Koperick, Norway, May 30.

The vessel was completed during the World War.

At the end of the conflict it was awarded, on the reparations account, to Great Britain and was operated by the Orient Steam Navigation Company. The North German Lloyd Company later purchased it from the English firm, and it returned to German registry.

Thoroughly reconitioned, the Dresden lately has been making cruises between Bremen and Mediterranean sea ports.

The vessel is 570 feet long, 67 feet wide and has a draught of 31 feet. Bulkhead doors divide the ship into water-tight compartments.

The Dresden for a number of years had been in trans-Atlantic service between Bremen and New York. The vessel had accommodations for about 1,000 passengers, 400 in the cabin class.

According to the latest sailing schedule of the Hamburg-American-North German Lloyd joint service the Dresden was to sail in European pleasure cruise service from June to October.

'Quakes Are Felt Over Wide Sections

By the Associated Press. Earth shocks over widely separated portions of the globe Wednesday are feared to have caused extensive damage.

Dispatches from Istanbul, Turkey, said an unknown number of persons had been killed in an earthquake in western Turkey, which was accompanied by a sluicing downpour of rain.

The region worst affected was Smyrna, where communications, manager at best, were reported completely disrupted by the violence of the tremors. Detailed information was not available.

Villages were inundated by cloudbursts at the same time they were being shaken by tremors, causing panic among the populace.

Reports from Buerthen, Germany, said an earthquake in upper Silesia entombed seven miners in the Karsten Zentrump pit, and was sufficiently strong to crack the walls of buildings.

An earthquake of considerable intensity was felt in Managua, Nicaragua, early Wednesday morning.

Year's Longest Day To Be Hot and Clear

Today, officially the first day of summer, will be ushered in with a considerable rise of temperature. The day will be fair, with temperature extremes of 72 to 92 degrees.

While Wednesday did not reach the predicted high temperature of 92 degrees, the day was warmer than Tuesday, showing a range of 68 to 80 degrees, with clear skies. A change in the wind to the southeast, and the approach of a warm wave from the west, are expected to bring warmer conditions.

Summer will arrive at 8:48 o'clock tonight, with the beginning of the summer solstice, or the point in the ecliptic at which the sun is farthest north from the equator. There will be 14 hours and 25 minutes of daylight, the longest day in the year, the sun rising at 4:27 and setting at 6:52 o'clock.

There will be no change in the length of the days to speak of for the next two weeks.

Loan 'Test' Hearing To Conclude Today

The supreme court Wednesday began and today will conclude the hearing of arguments on the test case made by the state department of law to determine if the board of regents of the university system has the authority to pledge future assets of the system to obtain a loan and grant of $2,500,000 from the public works administration.

The action of the regents already has been approved by the Fulton superior court.

Attorney-General M. J. Yeomans, arguing for the law department, and Marion Smith, chairman of the regents, and Harmon W. Caldwell, dean of the university school of law, arguing for the regents, were heard Wednesday. Assistant Attorney-General B. D. Murphy will conclude today.

A decision by the high court is not expected for several weeks.

China Pirate Victims All Reported Saved

LONDON, June 20.—(UP)—All five Britons captured by Chinese pirates from the British steamer Shantung, off the north China coast, last Monday have been saved, the admiralty announced tonight.

The communique said that dispatches from the commander-in-chief of British naval forces in Chinese waters reported their rescue. Naval Lieutenants Luce and Field and two men named Brand and Watson, ship's officers on the Shantung, were "safe and well aboard the British destroyer Whitshed," the report added.

The fifth, G. D. Nicholl, a passenger, was safe at Tsien-fu, capital of Shantung province.

"You earn your wages"

THAT handy servant, the telephone, is a go-getter. He chases after groceries, runs to the drugstore, carries messages here, there and everywhere, and only asks a few cents a day as his wages.

It does not matter who you want or why, whether it be day or night, storm or sunshine. Lift the receiver to order a loaf of bread—casually call a friend for a brief chat—or speed a frantic summons to the doctor, it is all in the day's work to the telephone.

If you are trying to get along without a telephone in your home, it will pay you to investigate the small cost, and the different types, of telephone service.

You will then very likely agree with most folks, who believe it costs more to do without telephone service than it does to have it.

For information, just ask any of your friends with the telephone company, or call at the telephone Business Office.

EXPERTS TO STUDY NAVAL PROBLEMS

Britain, U. S. Fail To Agree on Proposals for 1935 Conference.

LONDON, June 20.—(P)—After two fruitless sessions British and American delegates to the preparatory naval discussions here today assigned technical experts to work on detailed proposals for the 1935 conference.

The British again today failed to present any plan for the conference, although Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald gave the Americans a long outline for his nation's problems, stressing Great Britain's "enormous responsibility."

ANGLO-AMERICAN PACT IS FEARED BY JAPAN
TOKYO, June 20.—(P)—Japanese fears that the London naval conferences will result in an Anglo-American combination against Japan persisted today as naval matters remained in the foreground of public attention.

This reaction to the preparatory diplomatic talks was expressed in newspapers and in official circles.

MRS. BUNNIE DAY, 63, PASSES AT HOME HERE

Mrs. Bunnie Day, 63, wife of the late John A. Day, died Wednesday afternoon at the residence at 218 Thirteenth street, N. E., after a long illness. She was the former Miss Bunnie Collier, of Atlanta, the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Collier, of Atlanta.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. J. H. Puckett and Mrs. M. K. Counts, of Atlanta. Funeral services are to be held at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at Spring Hill, and interment will be in the Decatur cemetery.

Co-operation in Serving of Warrants in City Assured Justices of Peace by Judge Rosser

Judge Luther Z. Rosser Jr., chief justice of the municipal court of Atlanta, removed any cause for friction over jurisdiction between his court and justices of the peace of Fulton county when, speaking before the Association of Justices of the Peace of Fulton county, meeting at the Henry Grady hotel Wednesday afternoon, he declared that in the 11 years he had held his position he had never had occasion to charge any J. P. with contempt because of the issuance or serving of a warrant, and assured the justices that he would see there never was such occasion.

He also solved the problem, in so far as the municipal court is concerned, of fees for warrants issued by justices of the peace in Fulton county by stating that whenever such warrants are turned over to his court for service he always adds the fee for the issuing justice and subtracts from the costs before turning other costs in the case over to the Fulton county treasury.

The two conflicts arose when changes in the law removed jurisdiction of justices of the peace, in criminal cases, from the city of Atlanta. This created a situation under which a justice could issue and serve a warrant in a criminal case anywhere in the state of Georgia except in the city of Atlanta.

In the case of fees, the justices have contended that some arrangement should be made by which they can draw their fees from the county treasury. Prior to abolition of the fee system, the fees for issuing warrants and serving them were collected in the same manner as all other fees, but when Fulton county went on the salary system, with its consequent abolition of the fines and forfeitures fund, the commissioners have taken the stand they had no source from which to pay the justices their fees.

BOND OF $15,000 SET FOR ANGELO HERNDON

Action Is Taken by Judge Lee B. Wyatt; Prisoner Protests Treatment at Tower.

Bond for Angelo Herndon, negro communist sentenced to serve an 18-to-20-year term on the chain gang, was fixed Wednesday at $15,000 by Judge Lee B. Wyatt, of LaGrange, presiding in the emergency division of superior court, upon application of J. H. Geer, negro attorney. Judge Wyatt presided at Herndon's trial in January, 1933, when he was convicted of inciting to riot, which conviction was affirmed by the state supreme court and is now on appeal to the United States supreme court.

In a press statement from the International Labor Defense written by Ben Davis Jr., Atlanta negro attorney, who represents Herndon, the prisoner complains of his treatment at Fulton tower. According to Davis' statement of his interview with Herndon, the communist claims to have been refused medical treatment, complains that his mail has been held up, that he is denied anything to read and that certain literature has been confiscated by Assistant Solicitor John H. Hudson, who, he asserts, "derives a fiendish glee from procuring indictments."

The negro further charges that bananas sent to him are halved and oranges crushed before being delivered to him, in a search for weapons. Solicitor-General John A. Boykin Wednesday said that he did not believe there was a single word of truth in Herndon's reported statement.

"So far as I know, Herndon has been given exactly the same treatment as other prisoners receive," Boykin said. "He has been examined by Dr. Blacklock, the country physician, and has been given treatment whenever it was needed."

"As to seizure of insurrectionary literature intended for him, I do not know that any has been seized. But if such is the case, such seizure was entirely proper, in my opinion."

While Herndon is fighting for his freedom and complaining of his treatment, the solicitor general is preparing a model law covering sedition and kindred offenses which probably will be presented to the grand jury Friday. Boykin said that the grand jury is planning to sponsor the passage of the law at the next general assembly.

"In this law," Boykin explained, "we shall embody principles which have been upheld by the supreme court in test cases. We have examined New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and other state laws which we believe are in line with the best thought on the subject. The law will be comprehensive and will give definite statements as to what shall be deemed to constitute an overt act, which is lacking in the present law."

Penalties under the proposed statute, the solicitor general said, will include the death penalty and will be graduated to fit various offenses.

MRS. BESSIE BARTON RELEASED BY JUDGE

Mrs. Bessie Barton, jointly indicted with her husband, J. E. Barton, in the slaying of F. B. Bruce, was released Wednesday on her own recognizance by order of Judge Lee B. Wyatt, of LaGrange, who presided at the trial of Barton Tuesday, in which he received a 10 to 15-year sentence.

Mrs. Barton's release followed a conference of her attorneys, William Schley Howard and Eugene Tiller, with Assistant Solicitor John H. Hudson, who conducted Barton's prosecution.

The sale was handled by Rudolph Geissler, of the Adams-Cates Co.

CONTRACTOR ORDERED TO RAISE WAGE SCALE

The J. S. McCauley Company, of Atlanta, builders of an airplane hangar at Fort Benning, was advised Wednesday by the regional labor board to pay its skilled iron workers $1.25 an hour instead of $1. The company, the decision said, should pay the same wage that the Birmingham Construction Company, a subcontractor, paid.

A complaint of the employees in the coffee shop of the Hotel Tutwiler in Birmingham against the alleged payment of wages in food will be heard by this board at 10 o'clock this morning in the old postoffice building.

MOTHER, FATHER ARE BOUND OVER IN ABANDONMENT

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hatfield were bound over to city criminal court Wednesday by Recorder A. W. Callaway on a charge of abandonment of their 1-month-old son, who was found several days ago by city police in the home of Rosa Bass, negro woman, in the rear of 218 Rawson street.

The child is remaining at the Atlanta Child's home awaiting the outcome of a hearing to be had Friday before Judge Garland M. Watkins of juvenile court, to determine whether or not the parents shall be given custody of the child.

Trial of Rosa Bass, who was bound over by the recorder to city criminal court on a charge of cruelty to a child, probably will take place Friday.

Bond for Hatfield was fixed at $200 by the recorder, and Mrs. Hatfield was released on her own recognizance. Hatfield was lodged in Fulton tower in default of bond.

SAVANNAH GREETSS
GEORGIA EDITORS

Mayor Gamble Welcomes
Annual Conference;
Buffet Supper Opens
Meet.

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20.—(P)—The Georgia Press Association began its annual meeting here this evening at 7:30 o'clock with a buffet supper at Hotel Savannah, as guests of H. V. Jenkins, president of the Morning News-Evening Press.

At 9 o'clock an address by Caroline Miller, of Barley, Pulitzer award winner for the best American novel, "Lamb in His Bosom," was given. The newspaper folk were welcomed to Savannah by Mayor Thomas Gamble who emphasized in his talk that there was no need for the newspaper profession to fear any encroachment in this country on the constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech. Mayor Gamble said that he thought this fear, which a few months ago had been emphasized in many newspapers, had been without warrant. He said he felt that Georgia newspapers could be depended by their night and patriotic to ward off objectionable alignments against the present form of government.

Mr. Jenkins likewise welcomed the newspaper people to the city, he being the host member.

The business meetings of the association began tomorrow morning. Tomorrow night, at the Hotel De Soto, the association is to be the guest of Mills B. Lane, chairman of the board.

SCALF'S INDIAN RIVER TONIC
HELPED MORE THAN ALL OTHER MEDICINES

Mr. J. A. Cotter, Jackboro, Tenn., says: "I had been in bad health for ten years. My feet and ankles would turn red and my stomach just ached and felt so heavy as if there was a rock in it. I had taken many treatments of different kinds. I took one treatment that cost me $15.00 and another which cost me $100.00, but 6 bottles of Indian River Tonic did me more good than all the other medicines I ever took. Three doctors told me I was suffering from pellagra, but since taking Scalf's Indian River Tonic I feel like a new man. I am glad to recommend Scalf's Indian River Tonic to my friends."

FORMER ATLANTAN
PASSES IN CAROLINA

Heart Trouble Believed
Cause of Death of David
J. Kerr.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 20.—(P)—David J. Kerr, superintendent of the Champion Fiber Company at Canton, who assisted in construction of the Atlanta, Ga., street railway system in 1890, died in his berth on a Raleigh-bound train today.

He was believed to have died of heart trouble soon after retiring. He was en route with J. Wallace Winborne, state chairman, to the North Carolina democratic state convention. Leaving the car here early today, Winborne and Plato Ebbas, of Asheville, another member of the party, reached their hotel only to receive word that a porter, intending to awaken Kerr, had found him dead.

Mr. Kerr, who was graduated from West End Academy, at the age of 18, had been with the Champion company for 27 years, and had served five terms as mayor of Canton. He was a past president of the Canton Civic Club, and served two terms as president of the Greenville section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Prior to his connection with the Fiber company, he was superintendent of the Rome Street Railway and Light Company at Rome, Ga.

BLACK NOW PLANNING TO RESIGN AUGUST 1

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(P)—Eugene Black, Atlanta, governor of the federal reserve board is planning to leave his post by August 1 unless President Roosevelt persuades him to stay longer.

Black, who took the job with the understanding his task would be temporary, has been intending all along to get out after the adjournment of congress. The president's plan for a Hawaiian cruise was considered among the reasons dictating postponement of a change in reserve board leadership at this time.

Reports that former Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, might take the post were not seriously regarded in treasury quarters. It was pointed out that Cox, besides having extensive private interests requiring his attention, has declared himself opposed to taking any prominent government post.

Speculation over a successor to Black has brought into prominence the name of Tom K. Smith, St. Louis banker, who was until recently department assistant to the secretary of the treasury in charge of banking. He was tendered the second highest treasury post, that of undersecretary, but refused.

FORD IS OPTIMISTIC
ON BUSINESS OUTLOOK

DETROIT, June 20.—(P)—Henry Ford, in an interview today, expressed the conviction that "the industrial picture looks better all the time," and that "things are getting better in spite of everybody grabbing up all they can get."

"Things are very much on the upgrade," the automobile manufacturer said, "and have been since people made up their minds to get out and work."

Ford said that although he had not given much attention to the activities of the session of congress just closed, he thought it "quite natural that people should breathe a sigh of relief when congress goes home and that business should 'stretch' and start out anew."

Discussing general industrial conditions, Ford said that there is bound to be "an occasional slump—a kind of a vacation." He added, "at the same time, that the country can 'get along' very successfully on a five-day week."

Then, as an after-thought, he went on: "The six-day hour and five-day week would have been here by now if they had let things alone." He did not indicate what he meant by "they."

POLICE GUARD PLANT

OF FRUIT EXPRESS CO.

Special police guard has been employed at the fruit plant of the Fruit Express Company in Hills Park since last Saturday, when 15 day laborers notified the company that they will no longer work for the wage scale paid by the company. It was learned Wednesday.

M. J. King, general agent for the southeastern district of the Fruit Growers' Express, said Wednesday that the men had made their statement to the officials of the company but that they were not employed by the company at the time and had not been asked to work since. He asserted the men were not time day laborers at hourly wages and they considered themselves underpaid. They occasionally are employed in loading live into cars, he said. No trouble has developed since the demand for higher pay, it was said.

ACID STOMACH

QUICKLY

I WALKED THE FLOOR IN AGONY AFTER THE PLAINEST MEAL. TRIED EVERY KNOWN DIET AND AT LEAST TEN MEDICINES BEFORE PLACIDAN WAS SUGGESTED. RELIEF WAS QUICK—I HAVEN'T HAD A REAL PAIN SINCE

Two-way method is necessary, physicians now know, when stomach is sour and you feel stuffed from the gas caused by excessive acidity.

Placidan is a new scientific way to relieve acid stomach discomforts. It contains four antacids—one for immediate relief—others to prolong the neutralizing process, to help keep away excessive acidity and gas.

In addition, Placidan contains a powerful new diastase to promote digestion of starchy food, often the cause of excessive acidity. This helps to make relief and ease more lasting. Placidan tastes so pleasant. You will like it. Keep Placidan in the house and take a swallow whenever you feel uncomfortable from eating. Get it at all drug stores.

Roosevelt Baby Under Close Guard
On Air Trip To Visit Grandfather

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 20.—(P)—Ruth Chandler Roosevelt, six weeks old, was having a swell time during her air voyage today to visit her grandfather, the president of the United States.

Although her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, aided and abetted by airport officials here and a nurse aboard the 12-passenger American Airways plane, carefully shielded her from reporters and photographers, an American Airways employee who boarded the plane came out with the information that the president's youngest grandchild was smiling at all comers, and apparently enjoying herself completely. Her mother, the employee reported, said the baby had been getting along "just fine."

Her father was the only member of the Roosevelt party who came to the door of the plane when it landed at 3:40 p. m. (central standard time) and he came out only to say, in effect, that he had nothing at all to say.

"We aren't any different from anybody else," he said.

"There isn't any reason why we can't travel in private like anybody else."

The plane, which left Fort Worth with the Roosevelts this morning, was bound for Cleveland, where it was due to arrive at 7:30 p. m. Roosevelt declined to say what route they would follow from Cleveland.

Another passenger on the plane said the baby had not given her nurse or parents any trouble, and apparently liked to travel by air.

Ruth Chandler Roosevelt and her mother, the former Ruth Googins, of Fort Worth, have never seen the president. Elliott Roosevelt was coming through Louisville by plane for the second time in two weeks. The last time he was here he had just taken over his new duties as vice president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of the United States and was on his way to Fort Worth.

Superintendent Sutton Seeks Jobs For 1,500 High School Graduates

Positions for 1,500 young men and women, graduates in the 1934 classes of Atlanta's high schools, are sought in a letter sent out Wednesday by Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, to all employers in the city.

The letter states that these students have registered at the Community Employment Service, 85 Poplar street, (Walnut 3142) where their special qualifications have been listed as well as their adaptability to particular lines of work. Prospective employers are requested to communicate with Miss Irene Colwell, director of the employment service, when they will be put in touch with those individuals best suited to their needs.

Miss Colwell, in discussing the questions faced by the organization Wednesday, said that the big problem was to find places for two special classes of workers, the young people just out of school or college and the older ones who, after giving 25 or 30 years of loyal service to one firm, have been, in many cases heartlessly, cast aside to make way for someone younger.

"Many employers," she said, "are unreasonable in their demands for youth and experience combined in one person. They insist on employing someone below a certain age and at the same time demand experience impossible to get by that period in life. For instance, we have a request now for a corporation accountant, with details of experience and capability that are most exacting, yet the would-be employer insists on someone not over 30. We have half a dozen excellent men, fully qualified and any of them certain to prove valued assets to any concern, but all are around 40 and this firm won't consider them. Yet it is impossible to find anyone less than that age with the experience required. And certainly not below 30."

Miss Colwell also referred to a number of cases registered in their office for men and women still splendid employees, who have been turned out simply because they have reached the age of 45 or 50, when they have worked loyally and unselfishly, often for unfairly small wages, for practically their entire business career with that one firm.

Strange, Baffling Blood Disease Is Reported Solved at Emory U.

The strange case of the disappearing white corpuscles, a condition that means almost certain death, was announced solved by Emory University scientists Wednesday.

Baffled for 10 years by agranulocytosis, a bloodstream malady from which few recover, the Emory department of pathology, headed by Dr. R. Kracke, has found the condition is caused by the taking of certain pain-killing or fat-reducing drugs. There is still no known cure, only the physician knows how to prevent it in recent years for "reducing" attack the bone marrow where the body has established factories for the manufacture of white corpuscles.

The drugs do not affect the white corpuscles already in the blood stream but damage or destroy the cells that manufacture the corpuscles, gradually, as the supply in the blood dies, causing a complete absence of the white corpuscle in the blood. The result is death.

Announcement of the discovery was made at Emory Wednesday in connection with the delivery to Dr. Kracke of the Ward Burdick Research award medal of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

Thousands of deaths have been paid to agranulocytosis since it appeared in the United States in 1924. Numbers of them have been in Atlanta where records show only one person afflicted has recovered.

Dr. Kracke and his associates started unraveling the mystery five years ago when a patient was admitted to the University hospital, suffering from agranulocytosis and drug poisoning. Since then they have worked on animals, studied other patients and hundreds of death certificates filed in Washington.

Records of cases here show: The chief sufferers are doctors, nurses and their families.

Most persons attacked are of the upper strata of society. It attacks women more frequently than men.

There is no record of a negro contracting the malady.

Farmers in the southern part of the county may get applications at the Palmetto bank, Palmetto warehouse, Fairburn bank or warehouse, or from E. T. Nolan, of Union City.

NEGRO IS HELD IN THEFT OF FIVE AUTOMOBILES

Charged with stealing five cars from the same downtown parking garage on five consecutive nights, James Daniel, negro, of 516 Arthur street, was being held by police Wednesday.

According to Detectives G. N. Ellis and M. B. Petty, the negro would enter the garage, calmly select the car he wanted, and drive it away. He had access to the garage, as he was formerly employed there, and his presence did not arouse suspicion.

NEW YORKERS CHOOSE

and that means something!

IT'S significant how many dyed-in-the-wool New Yorkers come "home" to the Hotel New Yorker—live here permanently. Perhaps they choose this hotel just because it's new and metropolitan and convenient. Or because the rooms are luxurious, yet low-priced. Or because the food, from a bite to a banquet, is so smacking good in all four restaurants. But more than likely it's a combination of all these—as you'll discover for yourself. Just say "Hotel New Yorker" to the porter when you get off the train; we've a private tunnel direct from the Pennsylvania Station, where all trains from the South arrive.

Miss Winifred Orr Becomes Bride Of Dr. Parker at Athens Ceremony

ATHENS, Ga., June 20.—The First Presbyterian church in Athens provided the setting for the marriage of Miss Winifred Orr, of Atlanta, and Dr. Francis Parker, of Atlanta, on Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Dr. E. L. Hill, pastor of the church, read the marriage service, which was witnessed by a fashionable assemblage of relatives and friends.

The bride lived in Athens practically all of her life, leaving here some four years ago with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Orr, to reside in Atlanta. Her father is an elder in the First Presbyterian church, where the bride attended Sunday school and church from her babyhood days until the family moved to Atlanta.

Stately palms and maidenhair ferns were massed in effective arrangement at the altar, and seven-branched candelabra held tall white tapers. The pews for the family were marked with white tulle bows. A musical program was rendered by Hugh Hodgson, of Atlanta, who played Wagner's bridal chorus from "Lohengrin," the entrance of the bride party, the wedding march from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream," was played for the recessional.

Bridal Party. The ushers were Dr. Calhoun McDougald and Dr. Roy Kracke, of Atlanta; Judge T. P. Green and Dr. Alfred Scott, of Athens. The groomsmen were Dr. Charles Boynton Jr., Fritz Orr, Douglas Orr, Donald Orr, Traywick Stubbs, of Savannah, and Clem Ford.

The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Orr, sister of the bride, wore a gown of green mousseline de soie, the form-fitting skirt introducing ruffles in the front and the ruffles extending to the waistline in the back. The round neck of the bodice was outlined with a cape, which was ruffled at the edge, and ornamented in front with a mousseline flower. She carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and tied with coral pink ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Fritz Orr, Mrs. Harold Branch Jr., and Miss Cornelia Taylor, of Atlanta, and Miss Lucile Green, Miss Mary Hart and Miss Julia Bradwell, of Athens. The bridesmaids' gowns were made of coral pink mousseline de soie made exactly like that of the maid of honor. They carried bouquets of blue delphinium, Johanna Hill roses and yellow snapdragons.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Frederick J. Orr, with whom she entered the church, and was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Harlee Branch Jr. Her loveliness was enhanced by her gown of ivory-dusted satin, the long skirt fitting her slender figure, fullness being introduced in front by two godets, and the train extended to a graceful length in the back. The bodice was made on princess lines, fullness being let in from the side seams and caught in front with an ivory-tinted satin ring. Long sleeves extending in points over her hands gave a modish effect to the bridal costume.

A hand-made lace veil mounted on tulle was fashioned to the bride's wavy hair with lace cap, and the veil was caught at the nape of her neck with a bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses and valley lilies, showered with valley lilies and tied with tulle. She wore a gold bracelet set with diamonds and inlaid with blue enamel, which had been given to the bridegroom's mother on her wedding day by his father, the late Thomas Jefferson Parker. Sentiment was also attached to the real lace handkerchief carried by the bride which belonged to the bridegroom's great-aunt, the late Mrs. Martha Elizabeth Woodall.

Mrs. Orr, mother of the bride, was dressed in white satin, trimmed with lace, and wore a shoulder bouquet of valley lilies and sweetheart roses. Mrs. Nellie Woodall Connor, of Decatur, the bridegroom's mother, was dressed in black lace, and wore a shoulder spray of tulle and roses.

Reception at Miss Green's. Miss Lucile Green entertained at a small reception after the ceremony at her home on Woodlawn avenue in Athens, the guests including the members of the wedding party. Garden flowers adorned the reception rooms and the guests enjoyed the beauty of the gardens of the hostess, which were lighted with the glow from Japanese lanterns. Punch was served from bowls decorated with varicolored flowers and Miss Frances Wimbley kept the bride's book.

Dr. and Mrs. Parker left for Canada to spend their honeymoon, the bride traveling in a costume of navy blue triple sheer, trimmed with white pique. Her becoming hat was a model of blue felt, trimmed with white felt. Upon their return to Atlanta from their wedding trip, Dr. and Mrs. Parker will reside at 195 Avery drive, in Ansley Park.

Miss Blankenship Weds Mr. Dickson At Home Ceremony

Miss Sarah Blankenship, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Blankenship, became the bride of Talmadge Dickson this evening at 7 o'clock, the ceremony having been solemnized at the home of the bride's parents at 584 Arthur street, S. W. Rev. Clifford Bucklew, pastor of Orchard Knob Baptist church, performed the marriage service in the presence of the families and close friends.

Pastel-shaded garden flowers adorned the reception rooms. The improvised altar was formed of palms and ferns centered with a pedestal basket holding an effective arrangement of flowers. Mrs. Gilbert Kirchoff rendered a program of nuptial music, her selections including the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin," "Trauerzeit," which was played softly during the ceremony, and "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn.

Miss Ina Farlow was the maid of honor and wore a becoming gown of blue and green tulle. A shoulder spray of pink rosebuds completed her costume. Erle Blankenship acted as best man for the bridegroom.

The bride entered with her father, L. W. Blankenship, by whom she was given in marriage. Her beauty was enhanced by her wedding gown of white, fashioned along princess lines, and trimmed in rows of tiny ruffles. Sweetheart roses combined with valley lilies formed her shoulder bouquet. Following the ceremony the bride and bridegroom left for a wedding trip by motor to points of interest in Georgia and North Carolina. Upon their return they will make their home with the bride's parents at 584 Arthur street, S. W.

IT'S UP TO THE WOMEN

By Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

Following is one of a series of 60 articles in which the First Lady of the Land tells what she thinks about a variety of subjects close to the heart of all modern women. Every word has been written by Mrs. Roosevelt herself.

XXVIII—Courage in Politics.

The fear of being thrown out of a job unless he is sure of being able to find something to do, or has already made his place where he can easily return, is bound to affect the usefulness of the public servant. He believes and what they are going to do, it will win them real friends and the respect of their constituents and co-workers if they stick to the objectives that they wish to accomplish.

Courage and a realization that a public servant has an interest in the community which is greater than his interest in himself, will in the end, I think, win recognition and approval from a constituency whether it be large or small. There is no question but that the most important work in a democracy is that rendered by the servants of the people.

There is one new activity which entered the life of women with the passage of the nineteenth amendment in 1918. With the right to vote, a whole new field of responsibility and direct power came into the hands of the women of the country. A few of our states had already given women the right to vote and in some communities they were allowed to vote in school elections, but they did not enjoy the full privileges of citizenship as the equals of men throughout the whole country until 1918. Many men and women had worked for this change for many years and the stories of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Dr. Anna Shaw, Susan B. Anthony and Carrie Chapman Catt are inspiring reading because of the unselfish devotion they brought to this cause, which they felt meant a just recognition of the rights of a big group of people. Looking even beyond the justice of the cause they felt this power given to women would herald great changes for the good of mankind.

Fourteen years have now gone by and everywhere people are asking, "What have the women done with the vote?" I often wonder why they don't ask the men the same question, but I realize that it is a high compliment to women that evidently they were expected to bring about some marked change in political conditions and so I would like to look into the question of women as citizens and see just what we have done and are doing and then perhaps dream a little about what we may do in the future.

The vast majority of women, like the vast majority of men, have little time to give to anything but the earning of their daily bread either by actually working themselves or by caring for home and children and making other people's earnings go as far as possible. Their good citizenship consists in leading their lives so as to make them as productive of good for all around them as they can be and their public duty is expressed by using their vote as intelligently as possible.

Bridge Problems.

Bridge problems are becoming more and more popular. Actually, the average bridge problem bears little relation to the play of a hand at bridge except that it tends to accentuate the so-called "expert" situations, such as those involving intricate squeezes and deeply involved throw-in plays. However, the bridge problem is now so popular that on street corners, in restaurants, and in public places, you will see people poring over the printed diagram, trying to figure out how to make four tricks where only two meet the eye.

The nucleus of every problem is an end situation in which there may be as few as three or four cards in each hand—a form in which the solution will generally reveal itself upon inspection. The wily constructor of problems must therefore make it necessary for the solver to make some smart or intricate play or end-play in order to arrive at the end-play situation.

The two examples below are five-card end-play situations:

Your Skin Needs Mercolized Wax

To give it that smoothness, youth and clearness that fashion demands of chic, well-groomed women your skin needs Mercolized Wax. Just smooth it on your face, neck and arms at night like an ordinary cold cream. Gently the surface skin is flaked off in tiny particles, revealing the smooth, clear skin beneath. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty. Powdered Sassafras reduces the skin's oiliness, and gently dissolves the skin's surface, leaving it as smooth as a baby's skin. Mercolized Wax is sold in all drug and department stores.—(Adv.)

By FREDERICK GARDNER

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—Speculative

initiative was still lacking on the bull side of stocks today and the market drifted downward in slow trading.

A break of nearly 3 cents a bushel in wheat and weakness in distiller stocks discouraged support for the wheat market.

Litigation was small, however, and volume in the stock exchange shrank to 548,535 shares compared with 851,435 in the preceding session. The Standard Statistics Company average price of 90 stocks declined eight-tenths of a point to 80.1.

Both wheat and distiller stocks were inactive as they waited for a clearer picture of late summer and autumn prospects.

Alcohol Shares Off

National Distillers dropped nearly 2 points below 24 following announcement of plans to offer new stock to shareholders at $25 a share with an option to lower the price if the company wishes, and to sell 337,000 shares on similar terms to the Distillers Company, Ltd., of Great Britain. Schneider Distillers sold off more than a point in sympathy.

United States Industrial Alcohol, Crown Cork and Seal and American Commercial Alcohol lost 2 to 2 points.

Two recent weak spots, Freeport Texas and Westinghouse Air Brake, retraced to close fractionally higher, partly on short covering. American Telephone, Consolidated Gas and other utilities were relatively higher.

Most rails were only fractionally lower at the close as support appeared with predictions that the weekly carloadings report would approximate or surpass the year's peak established in March.

Industrial Dull

Industrial leaders, of the caliber of American Can, General Motors and Standard Oil of New Jersey, moved narrowly. Steel shares softened, with United States Steel and Bethlehem finishing about a point lower at the close. July steel outlook brought in a little selling.

High-grade bonds continued in demand and the dollar was somewhat firmer against the franc, but not enough to close the 2-8 to 2-7 1/2 cents a bushel lower, touching the lowest prices recorded since May 28. Corn, cotton and rice advanced about 7 to nearly 3 cents a bushel.

Cotton gave up most of its gains of yesterday, ending 80 to 95 cents a bale lower.

Seasonal business recession, as measured by leading barometers of activity, seemed to be slow. Iron Age reported the decline of steel output in the last week was "surprisingly small," estimating input production at 60 per cent of capacity against 61 per cent a week ago. July quint month of steel industry in July was forecast.

BUSINESS FAILURES

INCREASE IN WEEK

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—The number of business failures last week was the largest since the week of April 26, Dun & Bradstreet reported insolvencies totaled 251 compared with 239 in the previous week and 306 for the same period in 1933. Total failures rose to 149 against 145 a week earlier, and an increase of 10 defaults was registered for the manufacturing group, according to the report.

KEY'S VETO SEEN IN PAY HIKE MOVE

Funds Lacking, Mayor Says; Executive Adm. on School Fund.

Mayor James L. Key today is expected to veto a council measure designed to restore the basic pay of about 600 municipal employees at a cost of about $200,000 for the latter part of the year.

The mayor Wednesday held several conferences with various heads of departments which would be affected, and indicated he would not sanction the measure because of lack of funds. He expressed a willingness to attempt to find funds to aid those in the lowest brackets, but said he did not feel that a general restoration could be made at this time.

At the same time, he reiterated his intention to veto any budget providing for expenditure of any of the $212,000 fund voted to schools over his veto.

J. Ira Harrelson, president of the board of education; Thomas W. Clift, school business manager; Ernest Brewer, tenth ward school commissioner; and Eugene Sanders, president of the Atlanta Public School Teachers' Association, called at the executive offices with a view of obtaining official sanction to a budget contemplating allocation of the disputed sums.

Key challenged the board to force him to sanction such expenditures.

Atlantans Attend Presbyterian Meeting

The above group, representatives of the Covenant Presbyterian church, Dr. Herman L. Turner, pastor, who are attending the Presbyterian conference at Ocoee, Tullahoma, Tenn., June 19 through June 26. Front row, Helen Austin, Elizabeth Treadwell, Kathryn Herder, Mrs. Paul Eisenhart, counselor. Second row, Nettie Jacobs, Virginia Milner and Shirley Armstrong. Other delegates not in the picture are Allen and Raymond Wilson and Jane Thompson.

"You're a good lawyer and you know we can't do that," Harrelson said.

"I know you can't," Key replied.

Harrelson and Clift argued for about an hour without changing the mayor's views.

"I'm not going to approve any such budget and that's all," Key finally told them.

Key hit the board for having too many supervisors, too many special departments and a nine months kindergarten course in "these times of stress" during the course of the discussions.

R. O. T. C. RETENTION URGED BY VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

The Marcus W. Beck Jr. Post No. 3027, Veterans of Foreign Wars, went on record Wednesday night as favoring compulsory R. O. T. C. training in all colleges, S. C. Talton, the commander, announced.

The post, in adopting the resolution, pointed out that the R. O. T. C. is a necessary part of the national defense program. The post is joining other veterans' organizations in the insistence that the R. O. T. C. remain in American schools, it said.

Following Wednesday night's meeting, Commander Talton announced that a recruiting drive for members is under way and that the initiation fee will be waived for the next 90 days, by special permission of national headquarters of the organization. Eleven new members were enrolled Wednesday night.

Alex MacDougald, of Atlanta, head of the MacDougald Construction Company, was given the contract to finance the remaining construction and has been negotiating with the RFC for some weeks.

"Approval of the loan," Mr. MacDougald said here today, "will open the way for early work on the project, providing employment for a large number of persons for many months."

The Atlanta company was required to furnish a completion bond in connection with the RFC financing. One of the largest and most successful construction firms of the southeast, the MacDougald has undertaken a number of important projects throughout the south, including the great Mount Vernon Memorial highway out

ATLANTA COMPANY GIVEN LOAN BY RFC

MacDougald Gets $744,000 To Build Mississippi-Alabama Railroad.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Approval was given by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation today to a loan of $744,000 to the MacDougald Construction Company, of Atlanta, for building a 21-mile link in a new railroad between Meridian, Miss., and Myrtlewood, Ala.

The project represents the only new railroad construction now under way in the United States. Only one other new railroad project has been initiated in the country in recent years, the service line connecting government operations at Boulder dam with one of the trunk lines.

Completion of the Mississippi-Alabama road will give Meridian two lines of eastern rail outlet, the new project connecting with the L. & N. at Myrtlewood.

The new railroad, known as the Meridian and Bigbee River line, was launched a few years ago but the company had to forego its operations after completing only some 30 of the 50-mile miles of construction between terminal points.

Alex MacDougald, of Atlanta, head of the MacDougald Construction Company, was given the contract to finance the remaining construction and has been negotiating with the RFC for some weeks.

"Approval of the loan," Mr. MacDougald said here today, "will open the way for early work on the project, providing employment for a large number of persons for many months."

BOGUS 50-CENT PIECE LANDS NEGRO IN JAIL

With an entire nation looking for money to spend, Smith Ware, 25, a negro, whose address is the city at large, was probably the only man in Atlanta Wednesday night who had money but no place to spend it. He had a 50-cent piece that no one would take, so the detectives took him, they said.

Ware attempted to pass the bogus coin at a Decatur street poolroom, but failed, and Detective R. C. McGill and R. G. Pollard booked him on "suspicion."

It appeared that some of the coins, similar to that held by Ware, had been passed, and Decatur street businessmen were a bit leery. The negro disclaimed any knowledge of the manufacture of the money.
